Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women

Fifth periodic report submitted by Pakistan under article 18 of the Convention, due in 2017

[Date received: 9 October 2018]

* The present document is being issued without formal editing.

Introduction

1. The Government of Pakistan (GoP) follows a progressive and well defined agenda for gender equality and women empowerment in the country. Guiding principles for the promotion and protection of women are embedded in provisions of the Constitution of Pakistan.

2. Since the 18th Constitutional Amendment, 2010, the main responsibility to implement National and International obligations lies with the Provincial Governments which are continuously undertaking steps to improve the lives of women and to fulfill Pakistan's national and international commitments.

3. In pursuance of Article 18 of the Convention, the Islamic Republic of Pakistan is pleased to present its Fifth Periodic Country Report to the UNCEDAW Committee prepared in line with harmonized guidelines of United Nations. The Report covers measures adopted by Pakistan to give effect to provisions of the Convention and progress made from March 2013 to March 2017.

Coping with Challenges

Natural Disasters and adverse impact of Climate Change

4. According to Global Climate Risk Index (2017) Pakistan ranks at 7th position among the most adversely affected countries by Climate Change. Despite having high vulnerability of future climatic changes, Pakistan is still among very low Greenhouse Gases (GHG) emitting countries.¹ Pakistan's vulnerability to natural disasters is characterized by earthquakes, floods, droughts, cyclones, landslides, sea hazards and a range of complex emergencies.² Repeated flooding has occurred in Pakistan since 2010³ affecting all provinces. In 2013 Balochistan was hit by two powerful earthquakes destroying nearly 20,000 houses. In March and November 2014, Tharparkar district, Sindh was struck with a drought that affected some 260,000 people and caused famine in 5 districts.

5. As a developing country with its own, unique socio-economic and geo-political position, Pakistan has faced a myriad of challenges. Through the determination of its people and through political commitment, the country has been able to cope with and overcome numerous challenges.

6. To manage and mitigate natural disasters, National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA) is continuously working to develop and implement strategic plans to deal with emerging challenges. Gender remains cross cutting in these schemes. Provincial Disaster Management Authorities (PDMAs) have established Gender and Child Cells to cater to the needs of vulnerable population. Moreover, major initiatives undertaken include development of a Child Protection Strategy, establishment of better coordination mechanisms, SOPs for unaccompanied and missing children, training workshops on gender mainstreaming and awareness programs on problems faced by women, particularly in post disaster scenarios.

Counter terrorism efforts and ensuring safety and security of the people

7. Terrorism is a menace that has affected people all over the world. Pakistan has fought hard to curb terrorism and has lost many innocent lives in the struggle. During the last 16 years, the direct and indirect cost incurred by Pakistan due to incidents of terrorism amounts to US$ 123.13 billion equivalent to Rs. 10,373.93 billion.⁴

8. Pakistan has nevertheless achieved progressive and significant improvement in the country's overall security landscape in recent years as a result of law enforcement operations backed by comprehensive National Action Plan to counter terrorism. Women in Pakistan have also played an important role towards counter terrorism efforts i.e. as part of the special police units in fighting terrorism. Special resources have been diverted towards effective and inclusive law enforcement wherein women are also trained as first responders to terrorist attacks.

Preparation of Fifth Periodic Report

9. After presentation of 4th Periodic Report before UNCEDAW Committee, the Ministry of Human Rights (MOHR) printed and disseminated the report and Concluding Observations amongst all relevant federal and provincial government departments, academia, civil society organizations and mass media for information and necessary action.

10. After 18th Amendment, Provincial CEDAW Committees (PCC) were revitalized/reconstituted to ensure implementation of CEDAW at provincial level according to the priorities and requirements of each particular province.

11. Similarly, an Inter Provincial Ministerial Group (IPMG) has also been constituted to help the provinces harmonize their gender equality policies and legislations, and to encourage the sharing of best practices.

12. PCCs, IPMG, Treaty Implementation Cells (TICs), Provincial Women Development Departments (WDDs) and women Commissions play a significant role in monitoring implementation of the Convention and in providing relevant data on measures adopted throughout Pakistan.

13. For monitoring and reporting on treaty body recommendations, MOHR follows a systematic and institutionalized process. Matrices are designed and circulated among key line Federal Ministries and Provincial Departments for furnishing of detailed information.

14. MOHR also holds meetings at provincial headquarters wherein all relevant departments are sensitized regarding implementation and reporting of the Convention. Meetings are also held with Civil Society Organizations and NGOs to discuss and share measures taken in collaboration with federal and provincial governments.

15. A national level consultation was also held at Islamabad to share the draft report with all relevant federal and provincial stakeholders and CSOs to seek their comments/ suggestions and improvements.

16. The report has been finalized in close collaboration with Ministry of Foreign Affairs and is an outcome of broad-based, inclusive and participatory consultative process.

Part One

Response to the Concluding Observations

17. In line with concluding observations, an interim report on Article 22 and 28 was submitted by Pakistan in 2015 after following a comprehensive consultative process. In this Section, implementation of Convention and further updates on paragraph 22 and 28 are detailed.

Paragraph 9 and 10: Withdrawal of declaration upon accession to the Convention

18. In respect to withdrawal of Declaration, the Federal Government consulted relevant stakeholders; however, consensus is yet to be reached. The Declaration has not however affected the legislative process and the various Acts have already been amended by federal and provincial assemblies to protect the socio-economic and legal rights of women.

Paragraph 11 and 12: Devolution of powers

19. Following the 18th Constitutional Amendment, 18 Federal Ministries and 47 subjects including women rights were devolved to the provinces thus mandating each province to implement international conventions within their respective policy and legislative frameworks.

20. MOHR has regional offices in all four provincial capitals and they work in close cooperation with key line departments in the provinces including the Women's Development Departments and Commissions.

21. An Inter Provincial Ministerial Group (IPMG) comprising Ministers and Secretaries of Provincial Women Development Departments, Chairpersons, National and Provincial Commissions and relevant stakeholders including MOHR was constituted in 2010. Thirteen meetings have been held on periodic basis to agree on key priorities for gender equality in line with international commitments.

22. In addition, National and Provincial Treaty Implementation Cells (TICs) and Provincial CEDAW Committee are effectively implementing the Convention by developing standardized implementation protocols. In addition to sharing of best practices among provincial governments, implementation issues and challenges are also discussed and strategic measures proposed.

23. National and Provincial Commissions on Status of Women work in close collaboration and act as oversight bodies to suggest policy, legal and administrative measures to empower women and to remove barriers of gender discrimination.

Paragraph 13 and 14 Women and Girls affected by Disasters

24. Any proclamations of emergency in Pakistan cannot abrogate the fundamental rights of its citizens and this principle has remained central to the country's governance. In 1999, a ruling of the court validated the proclamation of Emergency, but declared the suspension of fundamental rights as unjustified.⁵

25. The Government of Pakistan cognizant of the challenges faced by women and girls has taken substantive measures including provision of health services, education, temporary/interim food and shelters, psychological counseling, legal aid as well as skill building/vocational trainings to earn their livelihoods and easy access to market, being implemented through public-private partnerships. Details are provided in the relevant sections.

26. A comprehensive Policy Guidelines for vulnerable groups in disasters has also been launched by the National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA) to address needs and concerns of women, children, persons with disabilities, and the elderly (gender disaggregated), during disasters. The NDMA is fully represented and functional at all Federal, Provincial and district levels.

27. The ‘Let Girls Learn project’ is a $70m project of government partnership with international donors ⁶ to ensure girl-child education for temporarily displaced communities. The program focuses on education of adolescent girls across Pakistan with one of its key pillars being to bridge the schooling gap in disaster-affected Areas. This is being accomplished through the construction and rehabilitation of schools and providing access to basic education.

28. The Government in collaboration with SMEDA ⁷ is providing vocational trainings for women in camps and their products are provided market access through craft exhibitions. Special trained women psychologists have also been deputed to counsel women and adolescents for post disaster trauma.

29. The Benazir Income Support Programme (BISP) also addresses poverty of women in far-flung areas. “Sisters in Success” is a BISP initiative to encourage idea generation to motivate the underprivileged women to break the shackles of poverty and emerge empowered in true sense. According to an Impact Evaluation Study conducted by the Oxford Policy Management in 2016, BISP has changed the way women are viewed in the household.⁸ Out of 5.2 million BISP beneficiaries, 157633 belong to Federally Administered Tribal Area (FATA). Currently, the BISP is committed to update National Socio Economic Registry (NSER) that covers whole of the country. The pilot project aims at assessing women in 15 districts (including all regions of FATA, Turbat) and Mohmand Agency as well as Charsada district of KPK. A short brief on the functions, allocations and budgetary aspects of BISP is attached at Annexure I.

30. Another major initiative includes issuance of Computerized National Identity Cards (CNICs) for women during displacement. This initiative has assisted women to access relief such as food, non-food items, health care and education. A total of 2200 female from KPK and FATA have so far benefitted from these emergency CNICs.

31. The government also extends support to local civil society organizations in taking various measures to help temporarily displaced women.

Paragraph 16 (d)

32. Given the fact that Jirgas and Panchayats are embedded in the socio-cultural system, these are being transformed and regulated to work as formal alternate dispute mechanisms in order to support the existing judicial system.

⁶ This is being carried-out with support from the US Agency for International Development (USAID).

⁷ Small and Medium Enterprises Development Authority (SMEDA).

33. National Assembly in February passed “The Alternate Dispute Resolution Bill, 2017” to deal with both civil and criminal cases presented by the Federal Ministry of Law and Justice. The system will be compulsorily applicable to twenty-three types of cases and components of conciliation, arbitration and Panchayat have also been included.

34. In the Punjab Local Government Act, 2013 and Amendment Act, 2015 (PLGA),⁹ the Alternate Dispute Resolution (ADR) mechanism has been introduced through local councils called Panchayats in Villages and Musalihat Anjumans (MAs) for amicable settlements of disputes in cities. MAs and Panchayats¹⁰ have authority to resolve civil¹¹ or compoundable¹² criminal offences among residents of an area as referred to them by individuals, courts or local police. Each Panchayat or MA is mandated to have at least 2 female members out of 9 members. Furthermore, District Courts closely monitor the working of Panchayats or MAs and decisions can be appealed in Court.¹³ The Panchayats and MAs provide petitioners with speedy, equitable and relatively inexpensive mediation and conflict resolution forums. This ADR mechanism is also under consideration in other provinces.

Paragraph 17 and 18: National Machinery for advancement of women

35. National Commission on Status of Women (NCSW) is an independent statutory body that has complete financial and human resource independence and autonomy. NCSW hires its own functionaries independently and its budgetary allocations are granted by the Ministry of Finance as per its own requirements. Similarly, Provincial Commissions on the Status of Women access required budgets for their respective programs and plans. The initiatives undertaken by the NCSW and PCSWs are given in relevant sections of the report. In addition, Commissions also access funds from National and International donors. The year wise break-up of financial allocations to the Commissions are provided in Annexure II.

36. The WDDs at provincial level are also working as independent government departments for women empowerment in-line with their respective prioritized policies, programs and plans. They undertake legislative, policy measures and many programmes are initiated in public-private partnerships.

Paragraph 19 and 20: Temporary special measures

37. A 10% reserved quota for women in the Civil Services is being maintained and women also compete on general seats as well. Currently, 40% of young officers at Civil Services Academy are women. Recently Sindh Province enhanced women’s employment quota to 15 %. Similarly, the Punjab Fair Representation of Women Act 2014 requires the Punjab Public Service Commission to reserve quota of 15% for

¹¹ Bye-laws for operation of MAs and Panchayat will be framed by Government of Punjab. Civil disputes that can be resolved by MAs and Panchayat will be categorized and defined in the bye-laws, along with provision for trainings.

¹² Non-compoundable offences include offences that cannot be resolved through monetary or other settlements between the parties. A comprehensive list of non-compoundable offences, including terrorism, murder and rape, is provided in the Pakistan Penal Code.

¹³ If a case is referred to the MA or Panchayat by the Court, the Court will accordingly define terms of reference for resolution of dispute, procedure for resolution, time period within which the dispute must be settled, contents of case report to be submitted to the Court, and any other relevant matters.

women in all public-sector jobs. Regarding representation of 33% women in local governments, the Women Commissions and Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) are pursuing the matter within their respective provinces.

38. The district governments, women commissions and other relevant organizations closely monitored Local Government Elections, 2015 to identify any infringement of the political rights of women. Reports by various independent election monitoring organizations generally found that the Election Commission of Pakistan's Code of Conduct was appropriately followed and overall female participation had increased. Furthermore, Section 9 of Election Bill 2017 has clarified that in cases of less than 10% women voter turnout in any constituency, the Commission may declare polling void in that area.

Paragraph 25 and 26 — Participation in political and public life.

39. Women parliamentarians in the 13th National Assembly (2013–2018) have demonstrated strong presence in the House. Data from legislative business of both Houses shows that from 2016–2017, percentage of women contribution to parliamentary business was remarkably high in the National Assembly where nearly two thirds (62%) business was originated by women individually and three percent in collaboration with their male colleagues. In the Senate, women sponsored 13 percent parliamentary business individually and two percent jointly. The current level of women's representation in the national and provincial legislatures of Pakistan is amongst the top in the region.

40. The Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) developed a strategic Plan 2014–17 to promote women's participation in politics wherein "gender in electoral processes and the ECP" is a strategic goal. The ECP also approved the Gender Mainstreaming Strategy in 2013 as result of a lower women voters' turnout in the General Elections of 2013.

41. A "Gender and Disability Electoral Working Group" has also been constituted in the ECP Secretariat at the National, Provincial and local levels. The group consists of key stakeholders from the public sector as well as the civil society and it has been actively deliberating on lessons learned and recommendations made post 2013 elections.¹⁴

42. Furthermore, electoral reforms to encourage women to contest in general elections are being introduced by the ECP. After intensive consultations with key stakeholders, the ECP has proposed 15% quota for women in the allocation of party tickets in general elections. The recommendation has been forwarded to the Electoral Reform Committee of the Parliament.

43. The ECP is also encouraging Inclusive Voter Education, especially at the grass root level to ensure optimum participation of women in the 2018 elections. Gender mainstreamed guidelines for ECP staff for effective recording of gender disaggregated results has been designed. Gender Sensitization Sessions are being conducted for the security and polling personnel deputed at polling stations.

Paragraph no 38: Marriage and Family Relations

44. The Government of Pakistan is taking necessary legislative and policy measures to give equitable rights to minority communities in Pakistan.

45. Landmark Hindu Marriage Act, 2017 has been enacted by Parliament of Pakistan on 17th March 2017 which was introduced by MOHR. The Act focuses on resolving issues like provision of basic documentation of marital status, inheritance from a deceased husband, re-marrying, divorce, separation or adoption by prescribing a registration mechanism and imposes penalties if its provisions are violated. The Act is applicable to the extent of Islamabad, the Capital Territory, Provinces of Punjab, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and Balochistan. Sindh Assembly enacted Hindu Marriage Act in 2016.

46. Responses to the remaining concluding observations have been reported in Section II of this report within each respective Article of the Convention.

Part Two

Responses to the Articles of the Convention

Article 1: Definition of Discrimination against Women

47. The Government of Pakistan reaffirms its commitment to reduce and eliminate all forms of discrimination in line with provisions of the Constitution of Pakistan. The principles of equality and non-discrimination are enshrined in the Constitution. The courts, in many instances, have upheld adoption of special measures as Constitutional for the inclusion of women in employment sector, enrollment in educational institutions, and participation in political setups on quota.¹⁵

48. Article 25 of the Constitution states that there shall be no discrimination on the basis of sex. The term ‘Discrimination’ as defined in the CEDAW is considered by the courts of law and other organizations whenever the question of defining discrimination arises.¹⁶ The Constitution of Pakistan provides fundamental rights which include freedom of speech, thought, information, religion, freedom of association, press and assembly which support the equal treatment of all, irrespective of gender.

Article 2: Obligation to Eliminate Discrimination

49. Embedded in the Constitution, the principle of non-discrimination encompasses all vulnerable groups including women, as already mentioned in previous reports. A number of legislative, policy and programmatic measures have been taken at the national and provincial level to effectively implement its commitments and to promote gender equality, women empowerment and fundamental human rights in the country. Implementation mechanisms are now broad-based and have been institutionalized. A brief list of legislations enacted by Federal and Provincial Governments, since 2013, to end discrimination against women is attached at Annexure III.

50. The Parliament of Pakistan has been passing resolutions to reaffirm the commitment to end discrimination and violence against women on annual basis to commemorate international and national women’s days. These resolutions urge the federal and provincial governments to facilitate equal opportunities, ensure safety and welfare of women, pursue policies, promote meaningful and significant participation of women in every aspect of public life. From 2016–2017, women members sponsored 30 resolutions individually and 14 jointly in the National Assembly with their male/female counterparts, of which 18 were adopted by the House. Similarly, eight resolutions were tabled by women lawmakers individually and five jointly in the Upper House. Of these 10 were adopted.¹⁷

¹⁶ Judgment No 1/K of 2006: Judgment Justice Haziqul Khairi C.J. [Citizenship Rights]; ALSO See: 2016. Lahore High Court, Multan Bench, Multan. Writ Petition No.5939 of 2006. Ms. Rukhsana Bibi, etc. vs. Government of Pakistan, etc.

51. The Courts in Pakistan have always upheld Constitutional provisions. In the judgment order of Nazar Elahi vs. the Government of Punjab etc. (2012),¹⁸ the Lahore High Court (LHC) dismissed a petition on the question of discrimination raised by the petitioner regarding age relaxation for female candidates.

52. Vision 2025 focuses on ending discriminations faced by women and providing them an enabling environment to develop their full potential and share the benefits of prosperity and social development. Strategy and policy frameworks have been outlined to enable women to be partners in community and national life.

53. Similarly, the 11th Five year Plan 2013–18 is a comprehensive document that sets out guiding principles and implementation strategies for national development.¹⁹ An amount of Rs. 2.7 billion has been proposed for gender and women empowerment in the Plan (Breakdown of the budget is available in Annexure II) The key aims of the Plan are to ensure women’s right to ownership of movable and immovable assets, provide unimpeded access to legal, religious and social rights and resources, protect their mobility and livelihood, especially in backward areas, urgent redressal against unjust and illegal patriarchal customs, such as honour killing and domestic violence and recognition of women’s contribution in socio-economic development, promotion of additional benefits in term of flexible working hours, day-care facilities, leave etc.

Article 3: Implementation of the Convention through all available means

54. Pakistan is firmly committed to the promotion and protection of women’s rights and has a free media, independent judiciary and a vibrant civil society — all of which play an important role in strengthening democracy.

55. A National Action Plan for Human Rights was developed by MOHR through extensive consultations with stakeholders and approved in February 2016 at a cost of PKR. 750 Million. The plan envisages activities at federal and provincial levels for promotion and protection of human rights with special focus on women rights. An amount of Rs. 400 million has been allocated for human rights education, sensitization, awareness raising, research and communication; Rs. 250.0 million for establishment of a human rights institute. It broadly encompasses six thematic areas including Policy and Legal Reforms, Implementing Key Human Rights Priorities (Protection of Women), Cross-cutting Interventions for Promotion and Protection of Human Rights, International Treaty Implementation, Institutional Interventions and Implementation and Monitoring Mechanism (Prevention of Human Rights Violations and Redressal Mechanisms).

56. In compliance with thematic area I, the policy works to expedite pending legislation. Accordingly, the MOHR presented Hindu Marriage Bill in the National Assembly and pursued the passage of anti-rape and anti-honour killing Bills.

57. In compliance with thematic area II outcome 3, a fund for free legal aid to poor victims of human rights violations has been set up at the MOHR. An endowment Fund of PKR. 100 million has been allocated by the Prime Minister for free legal aid to poor women. SOPs include the set-up of district committees headed by a District & Sessions judge and disbursement of money by MOHR.

¹⁹ Chapter 10: Gender and Women Empowerment, 11th five year plan of the GoP.

58. MOHR has also set up Women in Distress and Detention Fund to provide rehabilitation to women released from incarceration and shelters/crisis centers. Summary for amendment in Section 6 of the Fund is under consideration by Cabinet Division. An amount of PKR. 46 Million is available with MOHR for disbursement. Furthermore, the MOHR is also operating a Human Rights Relief and Revolving Fund to provide immediate financial assistance of up to PKR 50,000 to deserving and needy women. Financial assistance of PKR. 6.22 million has been provided to 358 victims during last four years including women and children, minorities and senior citizens including Persons with Disabilities (PWDs). Diyat, Arsh and Daman Fund are operational as well.

59. The MOHR also maintains a 24-hour legal aid helpline (1099) which operates throughout Pakistan and offers legal advice, redressal and referral mechanism. Some 82,000 calls have been received at the Helpline so far.

60. MOHR is also developing a legal and policy framework for the implementation of Human Rights commitments. Under Open Government Partnership, the MOHR is also developing “National Guidelines on Citizen Engagement in Policy Development and Evaluation”. These Guidelines shall provide a flexible framework for creating dialogue between government departments and civil society.

61. National and provincial Task Forces to monitor implementation of Action Plan for Human Rights have been constituted under the Chairmanships of the Federal and Provincial Ministers for Human Rights. These task forces comprise Parliamentarians, representatives of relevant Federal Ministries and Provincial Departments.

62. NCSW monitored the General Elections, 2013, developed indicators for gender based violence and conducted studies to review gender discriminatory laws.

63. The Punjab Provincial Commission on the Status of Women established in 2014 facilitates and monitors implementation of Pakistan’s international commitments, as well as instances of violation of women’s rights. It has authority to solicit required information from Government Departments. Similarly, the Provincial Commission on the Status of Women (PCSW) was established by the Government of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa in 2009 to examine government policies and projects for women empowerment, gender equality, and to review laws and serve as a monitoring body for various gender programs. The Commission has now been given financial autonomy under Women Empowerment Policy, 2015. Sindh Commission on the Status of Women Act, 2015 strengthens the monitoring of women development framework; facilitates work on the promotion of socio-economic, political and legal rights of women.

64. As mentioned at Paragraph 24, Provincial CEDAW implementation Committees and Treaty Implementation Cells (TICs) at the national and provincial levels monitor the implementation of the Convention.

65. An independent National Commission for Human Rights (NCHR) has also been established through an Act of the Parliament in 2015. It works with powers of a civil court to address human rights violations and to advise Government on human rights issues and policies. At present 5 out of 9 members are women.

66. Government of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa’s Women Empowerment Policy Framework, 2015 mainstreams gender issues in development across public and private sectors. The framework is based on the principles of non-discrimination and gender equity. It prioritizes needs of poor women in rural as well as urban areas and recognizes their value in economic, social and political development etc.

67. Women Empowerment Policy was launched by Government of Sindh in 2013 to promote gender equality. Sindh Family Planning Policy aims at achieving universal access to safe and quality reproductive health/family planning services by 2020.

68. The Government of Balochistan is in process of developing a gender policy in collaboration with key line departments and stakeholders.

69. The Government of Punjab introduced Punjab Women Empowerment Package 2012 and initiatives for 2014 and 2016. The provincial Women Development Departments are playing an important role in mainstreaming gender equality across policies, laws and programs. They are coordinating and monitoring execution of provincial policies on gender reforms and women development; collection of quantitative and qualitative data on the status of women, building partnerships with key line departments and civil society organizations to facilitate women's access to legal and justice systems.

Article 4: Special Measures / affirmative actions

70. Article 34 of the Constitution states that "Steps shall be taken to ensure full participation of women in all spheres of National life".

71. Since the 18th Constitutional Amendment, the provincial governments are taking policy, legislative and administrative measures for protection and promotion of women rights as per requirement of their province.

72. Protection against Harassment of Women at the Workplace Act (2010) is implemented all over Pakistan. A Code of conduct has been displayed in all Government departments and Inquiry Committees have been constituted. Offices of the Ombudsman for Harassment have been established at national and provincial levels. Since 2011, Federal Ombudsman Secretariat, Islamabad has received 480 complaints out of which 311 were related to harassment. Some 462 complaints have been disposed of by the Secretariat after completing all codal formalities while 20 are under process.

73. In addition, Twenty (20) Women Police Stations have also been established in different cities all over the country. Furthermore, Women Help desks and complaint cells have been established at large number of police stations throughout Pakistan to provide relief to women who feel reluctant to approach male dominated police stations.

74. As mentioned at para 56, MOHR is implementing a National Action Plan on Human Rights with special focus on women rights. Policy Framework for promotion and protection of human rights has also been drafted which includes promotion and protection of women rights as one of its key priority areas.

75. National Policy on Ending Violence against Women has been finalized to address all forms of discrimination and violence against women. It comprises four basic components which includes prevention, response, protection and rehabilitation.

76. Similarly, a National Women Empowerment Package is under consideration by the Office of the Prime Minister which comprises of Legal Reforms, facilitation of services such as day care centers, age relaxation, bank loans, availability of shelters, education, health facilities and political empowerment etc.

77. Designing and execution of Men Engage Model Program to eliminate Gender Based Violence (GBV) also falls under the ambit of MOHR's National Action Plan. It aims at engaging men to challenge discriminatory norms and stereotypes that prevent women's participation in all spheres of life. A national survey on Men's perceptions towards GBV has been completed in 10 districts of the country and is to be replicated in other districts as well.

78. Family Protection & Rehabilitation Centre for Women (FPRCW), Islamabad works under the MOHR and provides counseling and legal/medical aid/help to women. A set of SOPs have been developed to ensure effective implementation of FPRCW objectives and services. Services available at the Centre include psycho-social, and legal counseling, individual & group therapy to overcome depression and trauma, medical and legal aid, outreach visits, reconciliation, reintegration and social rehabilitation. The Centre also provides temporary accommodation and food, basic education, professional vocational training. It also runs its own Toll free helpline service (111-12-13-14).

79. To facilitate working women, the MOHR also runs a working women hostel at Islamabad. Two more hostels will also be constructed soon in Islamabad. Action Plan on Human Rights also calls for establishment of new Crisis Centers for Women and strengthening of existing centers at district level in collaboration with Civil Society Organizations.

80. Extensive and substantive trainings on women rights and CEDAW are being imparted to judicial officers at the federal, provincial and district levels. The MOHR is undertaking extensive training of prosecutors and court officials on women specific laws through Gender Equity Program in 12 districts of the country. The federal and provincial judicial academies have also held gender sensitization trainings for lawyers.

81. In Balochistan, three Shaheed Benazir Bhutto Centres for Women (SBBCW) are functional at Sibi, Khuzdar, and Quetta and three more centres are being established at Ketch, Loralai, and Naseerabad districts. In addition, Dar-ul-Aman shelters are also facilitating hundreds of women each year. Besides, a 50-bed old home for women is also under construction in Balochistan.

82. Similarly, the government of Sindh has established Women Complaint Centres (WCC) and Shaheed Benazir Bhutto Centre for Women through which, during last two years, more than five hundred victims of domestic violence and honor killing rape, acid throwing, child custody and dissolution of marriage have been given legal aid and socio-psychological counseling. They have also provided 154 women with Psycho-social counseling in cases of VAW, 150 women received psycho-therapeutic counseling, 64 received legal counseling and 27 received free legal aid. Besides Seven complaint cells also respond to victims of gender-based violence. In addition, Safe homes and protection centres have also been established at district level under the supervision of the Deputy Commissioners of the districts, to provide shelter and relief to women victims of violence.

83. For women's economic empowerment, the Sindh Home Based Workers Policy (HBWP) aims to protect and promote rights and benefits of home-based workers. Under the HBWP, home based workers are classified and their health and wage rights protected under relevant Labour Laws. Similarly in 2013, Government of Sindh also initiated a pilot project for Women Glass Bangle Home based Workers to register Women Glass Bangle Home Workers in Hyderabad. The WDD, Sindh has also designed a model GRAP (Gender Reforms Action Plan) to promote processes that lead towards equal participation of women at all levels of governance laying the foundation for permanent gender equality in society.

84. The Government of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa has also established four Female Shelter Homes in district Peshawar, Mardan, Swat and Abbottabad while two more shelter homes in Haripur and Mansehra are also being made functional. Residents are provided with food, clothes, vocational and religious education. Besides, trainings for shelter homes, staff are regularly conducted.
